STORY

| A company that makes the future with Stationery

As you know, since we were young, we have studied with pencils, erasers, notebooks, highlighters, and ballpoint pens while building our dreams.

Even being adults, we constantly use the stationery items for taking an exam, getting a promotion, or having an education.

Even though the demand for the existing stationery item has been decreasing, Morris certainly knows that the values or meaning that each product gives to us.

Since opening in 1993, Morris has built a great reputation in the stationery industry as an innovative and competitive company with a relentless drive to develop new technology and improve product quality. Morris vows never to stop working until it increases its share of the global stationery market, and becomes one of the best stationery producers in the world.

Morris will do its very best to create stationery that can help you create an even brighter future.
